

Miami Mayor Tomas Regalado presents Certificate Recognizing Henry Rodriguez

The City of Miami paid tribute April 30th to Pinecrest resident Henry Rodriguez of Municipal Claims Management Services at Miami City Hall. Mayor Thomas Regalado presented Mr. Rodriguez with a certificate honoring him not only for his commitment to fair insurance practices and disputed claims resolutions but for spending countless hours to elevate the quality of life not only for the citizens of the City of Miami but for all of South Florida.

Henry Rodriguez has taken the fight for insurance legislation that protects the insured to Tallahassee numerous times. Believing in being pro active, Municipal Claims Management provides municipalities, home owner associations and individuals with advice on hurricane and insurance preparedness. In the event of a storm his close ties to FEMA, HUD, insurance companies and community organizations put him in a unique position to help residents put their lives back together after a catastrophic event.

After hurricane Sandy devastated areas of New York and New Jersey Mr. Rodriguez's presence was requested by the Coalition of Hope's CEO to come and help evaluate the damages. Well versed with the effects of mold on people's health and property he immediately met with community leaders, politicians, and government officials to get a handle on the problem. This effort helped lead to the allocation of approximately a billion dollars in funding for mold and related issues in the states affected.

Honored as he is to be recognized for excellence in his past work, with forecasters predicting 18 named storms during the 2013 hurricane season, which falls between June 1 and Nov. 30. Nine of those are expected to become hurricanes and four of those major hurricanes (Saffir/Simpson category 3-4-5) with sustained winds of 111 mph or greater. Henry Rodriguez is preparing for the future.
